

Consider jurisdictions of different size providing local public goods with positive spillovers. The socially-efficient expenditure levels can be induced by matching grants, but jurisdictions can exploit the rationale behind this system to induce bailouts. W