Abstract

An outstanding open problem in kinetic theory is to make a rigorous derivation of the Boltzmann equation starting from the dynamics of systems of real interacting particles.